What is the Recreational Cycling Ranking (RCR)?

The RaboDirect RCR is a New Zealand first- a cycling series aimed directly at recreational riders.

The RaboDirect Recreational Cycling Ranking is just like following your progress with a golf handicap, but for cyclists! Any rider at any level can quickly get a gauge of how they're improving during the summer, while comparing results and having fun with fellow riders and mates from around NZ.

Your ranking is calculated from an average of New Zealand's biggest and most iconic recreational cycling events in 2010/11. Just enter a minimum of TWO events in the series to receive a nationwide ranking.

Your ranking may be used at future events to seed your start position.

As well as receiving a ranking, by entering at least THREE events riders can compete for the ultimate recreational rider title in The RaboDirect Recreational Cycling Series. The ultimate recreational rider will be crowned from their BEST THREE results from the series.

Find out more on how ranking points are calculated here.

How do I enter?

Simply become a RideStrong RCR paid member (only $15!), Become a RideStrong Paid member here

If you already have a BikeNZ licence it's free, you should have received your RideStrong membership card not long after your licence. The membership card features the RideStrong number that you will need when entering series events.

If they don't have their RideStrong card, they can get in touch with us at admin@ridestrong.org.nz

When entering a series event, please make sure you enter your RideStrong membership number (found on your RideStrong membership card.)
